Cómo acabar con el país (sin ayuda extranjera) (Spanish Edition) Rius

Este original libro es un verdadero curso de ecología aplicada a nuestro país.

México ha sufrido un proceso de deforestación irreversible desde que llegaron los españoles; se calcula que ha perdido casi el 90% de sus bosques y selvas. Además de proporcionar los datos estadísticos, Rius explica los profundos daños que provoca a los ecosistemas la tala indiscriminada de árboles; entre estos daños, por ejemplo, se encuentran las sequías, las que a su vez producen otras consecuencias nefastas para el entorno natural.

La erosión, también generada por la deforestación, es fatal para la agricultura, y desgraciadamente en nuestro país la mayor parte de las tierras que antes eran cultivables, ahora están erosionadas.

La lista de calamidades es interminable y desde siempre los gobiernos no quieren saber del problema ni mucho menos aplicar medidas que terminen con este imperdonable ecicidio. Parecieran empeñadas en acabar con todos los recursos naturales que constituían la riqueza de este país.
